

REPORTING SYSTEMS

Rynda Property Investors LLP is an independent real estate investment and asset/property manager. With offices in London, Paris, Frankfurt and Rotterdam, Rynda is 100% owned by its management team and is supported by 42 professionals.

We understand the financial reporting requirements of our clients. We strive to produce useful information in a timely manner in a format agreed with the client. We believe that reporting is as much part of an investment manager's role as communication with tenants.

Having experienced first-hand the reporting deficiencies of many traditional property managers, Rynda has invested significantly in IT that provides the data our clients expect. We use a single, integrated system for property management and financial accounting, ensuring no loss of information quality between systems. This investment in IT and training aims to liberate the property managers from their desks to spend more time with tenants without compromising reporting quality. Our accountants sit with their property management colleagues as members of the same team, giving them essential commercial background to their accounting function.
